

A DREAM COME TRUE

When he first gazed into her eyes he knew she was the one
He proposed and she said yes, his life had just begun
Standing at the altar, they both said, "I do".
She asked how many children, he said "It's up to you".

When graduation finally came, a happy time it was
His daughter dressed in her long gown, his son dressed in his tux
Your mom and I are so proud of the adults you've become
Of all the trials and obstacles you both have overcome

He took his daughter by the hand and walked her down the aisle
As she walked toward the altar, she glowed a radiant smile
A train adorned her white dress, long and flowing was her hair
He knew his son was next, another wedding to prepare

As he looked at his children, his wife whispered in his ear
"It brings back lots of memories" these words brought him to tears
When we were their age, we relied on one another
And after all these years together, we still have each other
