

A NEW BEGINNING

All stories have a place to begin
We always like the hero to win
Without reading the book, I've already won
With you by my side life has already begun

CHORUS

In life you never know where to look
Beauty of the mystery is in the book
There is a story shown in the words
Flying high in the air a flock of birds

By reading the book page by page
Progression in life, advance in age
I hope to help with the words of this song
To ease life's journey, it won't seem so long

BRIDGE

Within the book there's a mystery
Each chapter in order, for all to see
The hero to rescue, that is his test
To lay down the book, to put it to rest

CHORUS

There is a story shown in the words
High in the air is a flock of birds
