

WHITE SATIN

As the sun goes down and night begins
I look down deep inside, and I find within
When I look up and see sparkles in your eyes
In my heart I feel little butterflies

CHORUS

Angels on the clouds in Heaven high above
Watching ov'r us all, and spreading their love
With their satin robes the colour so white
Believing you're beside me, right here in my sight

With long flowing hair that turns into gold
Here in my sight, with your arms I can hold
What I feel for you right now in my heart
Like biting into the sweetness of a tart

CHORUS

BRIDGE

Together we fly two souls in the night
As we take to the air, the birds guide our flight
We look to the future, the past is no more
The wind in our hair, as we close that door

CHORUS